Texas State University UX & Usability Research Lab

Statement of Work

DSHS PRODUCT TESTING AND TRAINING

The primary purpose of this project is for the Texas State University and its UX and Usability Research Lab (UXURL) to perform testing, research, and training for the DSHS Center for Health Statistics (CHS). We will leverage the topical knowledge, expertise, research, and training to ensure that DSHS dashboards, digital products, and other deliverables and products reflect best practices, including appropriate and novel approaches to disseminating information on the opioid use epidemic in Texas.

Specifically, Dr. Aimee Kendall Roundtree (Associate Dean of Research, College of Liberal Arts and UXURL representative) and her team will provide subject matter expertise for testing, research, analyses, recommendations, and training on an as needed basis to the Texas DSHS Center for Health Statistics (CHS) from 5/1/21– 8/31/22. UXURL efforts may include reviewing data dashboards and other CHS products related to opioids/other drugs and pertinent health outcomes, providing feedback to guide revisions of existing products and development of new products, and reviewing similar products from other states to inform CHS efforts.

In particular, UXURL can provide usability testing (user interaction with products to measure what they do with it; measurement of product performance, efficiency, effectiveness, and satisfaction; recommendations for product improvement), expert review (qualitative evaluation, plain language review, and other expert review of products), accessibility validation (expert evaluation, advice, and recommendations for developing, implementing and monitoring online ADA compliance), accessibility testing (users with disabilities interact with products), formative and summative focus groups & interviews (facilitated discussion to identify stakeholder needs, expectations and experiences with products), training (on-site or remote workshops on topics including accessible design, user-centered design, cultural impact on the user experience, and more), and evidence-based best practice guides (white papers, integrative reviews, and analysis of new and emerging products and competitors; secondary research and reviews of information on products and stakeholders from industry, government agencies, media sources and other sources).

As appropriate, the UXURL may engage both internal (faculty/staff) and external experts to augment their own subject matter expertise related to this project. Key deliverables are listed below and final reports for each fiscal year (FY) will summarize the contributions of the UXURL to CHS product review and development.

PROJECT DELIVERABLES

The tables below provide details on the deliverables involved in this project, including evidence of completion, due dates, and the amount payable for each deliverable. All FY21 deliverables must be received and approved by DSHS CHS by August 31, 2021.

FY22 deliverables will be jointly defined and approved by CHS and UXURL by and prior to any FY22 work commencing under this contract. All FY22 deliverables must be received and approved by DSHS CHS by August 31, 2022.

LIST OF DELIVERABLES

We propose affording DSHS the option of several deliverables per DSHS product developed. Each activity will result in at least one white paper including findings and recommendations for designers.

Drug overdose deaths	√	√	√	*	√		√	@

Future projects TBD by DSHS	√	√	√	*	√	*	√	@

√=at least one white paper; *=at least ½ white paper, within budget; @=at DSHS request

A heuristic analysis will be used to identify each product’s common usability issues so that the problems can be resolved, consequently improving the user satisfaction, and increasing each digital product’s overall success. One or more experts will compare each product’s design to a list of predefined design principles (commonly referred to as heuristics) and identify where the product is not following those principles.

Plain text review simplifies products for consumers. Consumer materials are often too difficult for people to read and understand. Assessing written materials is considered a first step in ensuring materials are clear and effective, and often draws attention to content in need of plain language editing. Plain language assessment includes a readability assessment that describes the level of difficulty of reading material, a formal evaluation of how easy the content is to understand and act upon, and recommendations for changes.

Accessibility evaluations make web products usable to as many people with unique abilities as possible. It makes applications (“apps”) accessible to those with disabilities, such as vision impairment, hearing disabilities, and other physical or cognitive conditions. Accessibility testing and improvements are required by law--Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act. Accessibility evaluations should be incorporated into testing strategies early and often. Testing and evaluation require evaluating web products with evaluation tools and assistive technologies for people with disabilities. It also requires finding best practices for inaccessible technologies.

Competitive analysis focuses on direct competitors who provide almost the same services. Comparative analysis focuses on both direct and indirect competitors, including competitors that only provide a small portion of similar features. The benefit of such analyses is designers gain better understanding of user expectations and experiences with prior products. Both enable learning strengths and weaknesses of diverse competitors to gather comprehensive information for design improvements.

Usability testing offers much return on investment for product developers. It is estimated that product problems cost 10 times more to fix in production than in the specification phase, 10 times more than that to fix in testing than in development, and 10 times more again at launch. User tests included scenario-based testing where moderators ask participants to perform tasks, usually using one or more specific user interfaces. While the participant completes each task, the moderator observes the participant's behavior and listens for feedback.

User experience profiles and research provides an essential foundation for design strategy. It helps to create an optimal product for users. Most importantly, it provides data to back strategy and design decisions. User research also helps you to identify early adopters and primary, secondary, and tertiary stakeholders who would use your product. Finally, it helps give designers first-hand insight into how users will use products. UX testing also includes interviews, surveys, questionnaires, card sorting exercises, A/B tests of alpha and beta prototypes, to name a few valuable strategies.

Integrative reviews produce consensus findings of all preexisting best practices for solving design problems and meeting user experience needs. An integrative review is a general review of the existing literature as a systematic process. It usually involves both quantitative and qualitative studies. Integrative reviews provide designers and practitioners with the state-of-knowledge on problems, issues, and topics for making evidence-based decisions about product design, marketing, and promotion.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

We will complete one white paper (1–2-page summaries with recommendations) per activity. White papers will be submitted within two weeks of completion of each activity. Activities themselves range from 2-6 weeks for completion. Activities include heuristic analyses, plain language reviews, accessibility evaluations, comparator studies, user tests (pre and post), and integrative reviews or surveys. Research reports (at least 4000 words) will include more comprehensive description of methods, findings, and recommendations.

Performing Agency may not subcontract any or all of the Work and/or obligations under the Contract without prior written approval of the System Agency. Subcontracts, if any, entered into by the Performing Agency shall be in writing and be subject to the requirements of the Contract. Should Performing Agency subcontract any of the services required in the Contract, Performing Agency expressly understands and acknowledges that in entering into such subcontract(s), System Agency is in no manner liable to any subcontractor(s) of Performing Agency. In no event shall this provision relieve Performing Agency of the responsibility for ensuring that the services performed under all subcontracts are rendered in compliance with the Contract.

9.9 INDEPENDENT PERFORMING AGENCY

Performing Agency and Performing Agency's employees, representatives, agents, subcontractors, suppliers, and third-party service providers shall serve as independent contractors in providing the services under the Contract. Neither Performing Agency nor System Agency is an agent of the other and neither may make any commitments on the other party's behalf. The Contract shall not create any joint venture, partnership, agency, or employment relationship between Performing Agency and System Agency.

9.10 GOVERNING LAW AND VENUE

This Contract shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, without regard to the conflicts of law provisions. The venue of any suit arising under the Contract is fixed in any court of competent jurisdiction of Travis County, Texas, unless the specific venue is otherwise identified in a statute which directly names or otherwise identifies its applicability to the System Agency.

9.11 SEVERABILITY

If any provision of the Contract is held to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable by a court of law or equity, such construction will not affect the legality, validity or enforceability of any other provision or provisions of this Contract. It is the intent and agreement of the Parties this Contract shall be deemed amended by modifying such provision to the extent necessary to render it valid, legal and enforceable while preserving its intent or, if such modification is not possible, by substituting another provision that is valid, legal and enforceable and that achieves the same objective. All other provisions of this Contract will continue in full force and effect.

9.12 SURVIVABILITY

Expiration or termination of the Contract for any reason does not release Performing Agency from any liability or obligation set forth in the Contract that is expressly stated to survive any such expiration or termination, that by its nature would be intended to be applicable following any such expiration or termination, or that is necessary to fulfill the essential purpose of the Contract, including without limitation the provisions regarding warranty, indemnification, confidentiality, and rights and remedies upon termination.

9.13 FORCE MAJEURE

Neither Party shall be liable to the other for any delay in, or failure of performance of, any requirement included in the Contract caused by force majeure. The existence of such causes of delay or failure shall extend the period of performance until after the causes of delay or failure have been removed provided the non-performing party exercises all reasonable due diligence to perform. Force majeure is defined as acts of God, war, fires, explosions, hurricanes, floods, failure of transportation, or other causes that are beyond the reasonable control of either party and that by exercise of due foresight such party could not reasonably have been expected to avoid, and which, by the exercise of all reasonable due diligence, such party is unable to overcome.

9.14 DISPUTE RESOLUTION

A. The dispute resolution process provided for in Chapter 2260 of the Texas Government Code must be used to attempt to resolve any dispute arising under the Contract. To initiate the process, the Performing Agency shall submit written notice, as required by Chapter 2260, to the individual identified in the Contract for receipt of notices. Any informal resolution efforts shall in no way modify the requirements or toll the timing of the formal written notice of a claim for breach of contract required under §2260.051 of the Texas Government Code. Compliance by the Performing Agency with Chapter 2260 is a condition precedent to the filing of a contested case proceeding under Chapter 2260.

- B. The contested case process provided in Chapter 2260 is the Performing Agency's sole and exclusive process for seeking a remedy for an alleged breach of contract by the System Agency if the Parties are unable to resolve their disputes as described above.
- C. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Contract to the contrary, unless otherwise requested or approved in writing by the System Agency, the Performing Agency shall continue performance and shall not be excused from performance during the period of any breach of contract claim or while the dispute is pending. However, the Performing Agency may suspend performance during the pendency of such claim or dispute if the Performing Agency has complied with all provisions of Section 2251.051, Texas Government Code, and such suspension of performance is expressly applicable and authorized under that law.

9.15 NO IMPLIED WAIVER OF PROVISIONS

The failure of the System Agency to object to or to take affirmative action with respect to any conduct of the Performing Agency which is in violation or breach of the terms of the Contract shall not be construed as a waiver of the violation or breach, or of any future violation or breach.

9.16 MEDIA RELEASES

9.18 PROHIBITION ON NON-COMPETE RESTRICTIONS

Performing Agency shall not require any employees or subcontractors to agree to any conditions, such as non-compete clauses or other contractual arrangements that would limit or restrict such persons or entities from employment or contracting with the State of Texas.

9.19 SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY

Nothing in the Contract shall be construed as a waiver of the System Agency's or the State's sovereign immunity. This Contract shall not constitute or be construed as a waiver of any of the privileges, rights, defenses, remedies, or immunities available to the System Agency or the State of Texas. The failure to enforce, or any delay in the enforcement of, any privileges, rights, defenses, remedies, or immunities available to the System Agency or the State of Texas under the Contract or under applicable law shall not constitute a waiver of such privileges, rights, defenses, remedies, or immunities or be considered as a basis for estoppel. System Agency does not waive any privileges, rights, defenses, or immunities available to System Agency by entering into the Contract or by its conduct prior to or subsequent to entering into the Contract.

9.20 ENTIRE CONTRACT AND MODIFICATION

This Contract constitutes the entire agreement of the Parties and is intended as a complete and exclusive statement of the promises, representations, negotiations, discussions, and other agreements that may have been made in connection with the subject matter hereof.
